This newly created position will be responsible for the high level account management of existing key relationships and new business development. This position will also be responsible for the successful management of projects.

This position may be based in New Zealand, Australia or America depending on the successful applicant.

In this position you will;

- Develop strategically valuable new business opportunities
- Oversee poultry projects and project teams
- Actively seek new business within the poultry market

To be a great match to this role you will have:

- A strong technical engineering background
- Over 5 years' experience in business development and building customer relationships
- Good understanding of the poultry market
- The ability to travel globally and work with a high level of autonomy

The Company

At Scott we automate the future. The automated production and process machinery we design and build deliver productivity gains and exceptional reliability to many of the world's leading manufacturers. We also go a step beyond engineering production solutions to actually revolutionising entire industries - using robotics to automate manual processes and create genuine competitive advantage.

For over 100 years Scott has looked to tomorrow and rapidly responded to shifting needs. Today, we have production bases in the United States, China, Australia, Germany and New Zealand, customers in 88 countries, 400 staff and a real commitment to developing new technology and bringing it to market. Our parent company, JBS, is the world's largest protein company and world's second largest food company. Across everything we do you will discover true quality, advanced engineering and a renowned design aesthetic.
